Extant Aerospace Organizational Announcement

Melbourne, Florida, August 30, 2021 - The improving aerospace market conditions are providing a steady increase in opportunities for product acquisitions at Extant Aerospace. Successful acquisition and integration of legacy products is critical to Extant's future growth.

We are pleased to announce the appointment of James Gerwien-Moreta to Executive Director, and Eric Hilliard as President of Extant Aerospace. Jim retains overall responsibility for Extant while shifting more focus to business development and acquisitions. Eric will be reporting directly to Jim in his new role and is responsible for day-to-day operations and integration of new acquisitions. We firmly believe that this new organizational structure provides additional horsepower to the Extant team and will accelerate the product acquisition and integration process driving future growth.

Eric joins Extant after 5 years at AeroControlex, where he held various leadership positions as a Business Unit Manager, Vice President of Operations, successfully leading the integration activities of the Cablecraft acquisition and most recently, Vice President of Sales. Prior to joining AeroControlex, Eric spent 8 years at Energy Focus Inc in a variety of operations and business development leadership roles completing his tenure as President. Prior to leading Energy Focus Inc, Eric held a variety of management and business development roles at Saint Gobain and Goodrich Aerospace. Eric holds a Bachelor of Science degree from Indiana University of Pennsylvania, and a Master of Business Administration from Case Western Reserve. Eric and his wife Alyssa will be relocating from Ohio to Florida.
